Super Bowl Of The Future By Christian Kovell

So it's Superbowl 77, the Chiefs vs Panthers. The Panthers went 13-4 and the Chiefs went 12-5. The halftime show is going to have Ice Spice and Travis Scott and they are going to sing together. The Superbowl starts at 6:00 pm. It's on February 27th.

First Half: In the first 5 minutes of the game the Panthers throw a touchdown. The Panthers kick off the ball and the Chiefs get a kick return touchdown. The Panthers get kicked off the ball and get 50 yards down field. The Panthers get a rushing touchdown. The Panthers kick off the ball again and the clock runs out 14-7.

Second Half: The Chiefs have the ball and get a run for 20 yards. It's 1st down and the Chiefs are throwing it and get a 5 yard catch. It's second down the Chiefs run and get a 15 yard run. The Chiefs throw and it's an interception. The Panthers have the ball with 1 minute left and they kneel out the time. The Panthers win.

This is my prediction when the 2043 Superbowl happens. Do you agree?

EDUCATION

Gone Boarding By Adam Eyerly

This year Bangor Middle School has Gone Boarding as one of the students' electives. The class is held by Mrs. Remington. There will be only two classes this year since we are already halfway through the year. They are in their second class.

This class is about making skateboards and snowboards. With teamwork, pride, and adult supervision students get to glue, cut and ride their very own boards. Currently they are making snowboards in teams of two. After they finish, they will make skateboards that they will be able to take home after they are finished.

There are three steps in making a board: glue, cut ,ride. In this class students will be able to socialize and learn. I myself have had the opportunity to be a part of this class and I loved it. I got to make friends and skate.

NEWS

UFOs and China By Erick Hernandez

As some of you know, a few days ago a Chinese weather balloon about the size of three buses was spotted over Montana. It was revealed that it was carrying electronic surveillance technology. The spy balloon continued traveling until it reached South Carolina where it was shot down by an F-22 Raptor

However since then multiple unidentified flying objects (UFOs) have been spotted flying over U.S airspace. So far the military has downed at least three of these UFOs. The first was shot down on February 10th over the waters of Alaska. The UFO broke into multiple pieces and was most likely not a balloon. According to a White House official, the object was about the size of a small car. The second object was shot down on February 11th near the border of Canada and Alaska. It was described as smaller than the balloon and cylindrical in shape. The most recent object was shot down over Lake Huron. It had an octagonal shape. The U.S still doesn't know how they are flying, however.

These UFOs are very unlikely to be extraterrestrial in nature and are most likely from China. This is making the relationship between the U.S and China tense. With the event of a Chinese invasion of Taiwan in the following years or decades possible, a war between the U.S and China is a possibility. China and Russia are also in a partnership which they are deepening. While WW3 is not certain it is a possibility with growing tensions and wars between countries.
